

Iveshead School announces new partnership with Mowbray Education Trust

This week, pupils and staff at Iveshead School are celebrating after officially joining the Mowbray Education Trust.

Over the last 18 months, the Trust has worked closely with the school to provide support, and the formalising of this partnership has served to solidify this effective and positive relationship. Iveshead is now the seventh school to join the successful Midlands-based Trust and staff and students are looking forward to continuing to work together with everyone from across the tight-knit family of schools.

Iveshead School, located in Loughborough, offers a supportive and welcoming community and a successful approach to education that encourages students to develop the skills and confidence they need to thrive. Joining Mowbray has been a natural fit as the two organisations share the same values and foster a “Children First” approach.

Both the school and the Trust are looking forward to sharing knowledge, resources, and best practice. The partnership will also give Iveshead an excellent opportunity to expand its current professional development and training opportunities for staff to support them as they progress their careers. This work will deliver positively into the classroom to ensure students receive the best possible education.

This exciting new chapter will allow Iveshead School to further continue its dedication to enhancing its provisions for students to future-proof them with the skills and knowledge needed to achieve success.

Matthew Parrott, Headteacher at Iveshead School, said:

“The students and faculty at Iveshead are delighted to join the Mowbray community. Joining the Trust will give our school many wonderful opportunities such as sharing best practice within the network, collaboration with other academies, and access to more learning resources for our students and teachers. As part of the Trust, we look forward to continuing our path to improvement to enrich the lives of everyone at Iveshead.”

Christine Stansfield, the CEO of Mowbray Education Trust, said:

“We are thrilled to welcome Iveshead School and all of its wonderful staff and students to Mowbray Education Trust. Our top priority is to support great schools and bolster success and development for each and every student and teacher. We are looking forward to working closely with the Iveshead team to share best practice and promote peer collaboration. We are confident that the partnership will foster sustained growth and support the learning community to strive for greater and greater heights.”
